

CRITICAL MUSLIM STUDIES

DECOLONIAL STRUGGLES, THEOLOGY OF LIBERATION AND ISLAMIC REVIVAL

Granada, Spain/Al-Andalus - June 4-16, 2012
<http://www.dialogoglobal.com/granada>

This international Summer School aims to open the space for the analysis and investigation of Islam not only as a spiritual tradition, but also as an epistemic decolonial perspective that offers contributions and responses to the problems that humanity faces today. The Summer School will be held in the city of Granada, Spain - a historic and symbolic site of Islamic Civilization and one of the major centers of Al-Andalus, Islamic Spain.

The course is offered through The Center for the Study of Intercultural Dialogues, in collaboration with the Ethnic Studies Program at UC Berkeley.

This year's faculty include:

Tariq Ramadan - Asma Lamrabet - Hamid Algar - Hatem Bazian
Samia Bano - Marc H. Ellis - Nadia Fadil - Ramon Grosfoguel
Salman Sayyid - Abdennur Prado - Sherman Jackson - Arzu Merali
Houria Bouteldja - Arun Rasiah - Santiago Slabodsky

The course is offered in English.

Deadline for Applications: February 5, 2012

<http://www.dialogoglobal.com/granada/application.php>

Costs for the June 4-16, 2012 intensive seminar:

- * 1st Option: Tuition + Room + Two Meals Each Weekday: €1,500
- * 2nd Option: Tuition only: €1,200

For more information go to: <http://www.dialogoglobal.com/granada/>
Email questions to: cit@dialogoglobal.com